Dear Ms. Best:

This letter references your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request FOIA-00054-2019 dated November 05, 2018, which we received on November 06, 2018, and is an interim response. You requested:

• Requesting records mentioning or generated as a result of the 2011 Iran - U. S. RQ-170 incident in which an RQ-170 was captured by Iranian forces near the city of Kashmar in northeastern Iran.

Please use your case number on all future correspondence with us regarding your request.

At this stage of processing your request, we can provide an estimated date of completion, which currently is estimated to be: 13 October 2020, based on our current analysis and assessment of your request as complex. As further processing of your request continues, for multiple possible reasons, your case officer may be required to otherwise update you with a new estimated completion date, and at that time, we will provide you with a further interim response.

Generally, complex requests typically seek a high volume of material or require additional steps to process, such as the need to search for records in multiple locations or the need to collaborate with multiple agencies. In comparison, a simple request can usually be processed faster than one that is complex. Simple requests are typically more targeted and seek fewer pages of records.

Please remember that an estimated date of completion is only an estimate based on the available information your case officer has at the time of this letter; your estimated completion date is subject to change. Requests that are initially assessed as complex often encounter further handling, coordination, or other delays as processing continues. Additionally, please remember that we typically process requests in the order of receipt and that our backlog currently is in excess of 1,600 requests. The time it takes to respond to a request will vary depending on the complexity of the request and any backlog of requests already pending. If your request is complex, a case officer may contact you to discuss options for expediting your request, including: (I) narrowing the scope or focus of your request or increasing its specificity; (II) specifically describing record(s) you are looking for with additional descriptive details; and (III) including specific event-related information.

For questions regarding your request and the current estimated completion date, please reference your case number and contact our FOIA Requester Service Center (email is preferred):

Dear Ms. Best:

This letter references your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request FOIA-00120-2019 dated January 23, 2019, which we received on January 24, 2019, and is an interim response. You requested:

• Requesting all documents on Operation Cobra or Operation Cobra II, the existence of which has been officially acknowledged and declassified.

Please use your case number on all future correspondence with us regarding your request.

At this stage of processing your request, we can provide an estimated date of completion, which currently is estimated to be: 8 June 2020, based on our current analysis and assessment of your request as simple. As further processing of your request continues, for multiple possible reasons, your case officer may be required to otherwise update you with a new estimated completion date, and at that time, we will provide you with a further interim response.

Generally, a simple request can usually be processed faster than one that is complex. Simple requests are typically more targeted and seek fewer pages of records.
